Supporting schools

Other ways the Society supports schools:

Geography Ambassadors

The Geography Ambassador scheme recruits, trains and supports undergraduate, postgraduate, and workplace geographers from universities and business to act as ambassadors for geography in the classroom and beyond.

W www.rgs.org/ambassadors

Advocacy on the curriculum

The Society is a leading voice for the value of geographical education across schools and universities and advocates strongly to government about the value of geography, including fieldwork, as an essential part of the National Curriculum and at GCSE and A Level.

Recognising and celebrating geography

The Society's annual programme of awards and competitions, for both teachers and their pupils, recognises and celebrates examples of excellent work in school geography.

Why should I join?

RGS-IBG School Membership is an invaluable way to keep your geographical knowledge up-to-date, support your KS3, GCSE and A Level pupils and be part of the wider community of geographers. Membership connects you, your colleagues and pupils with a wealth of online resources, lectures and podcasts, subject updates, CPD and study events.

School Member Area

Access our growing range of online resources containing in-depth and up-to-date case studies, articles and lesson ideas.

W www.rgs.org/SchMemArea

School Member lecture series

Attend our termly lectures exclusively for School Members, as well as regional Society events in your area.

Online lectures and podcasts

Watch high-quality videos of the Society's lectures and download subject update podcasts.

“School Membership helps us to keep abreast of all things geographical. It’s fantastic for providing our pupils with both up-to-date case studies and insight into where geography can take them in the future.”

Justin La Frenais, Geography Subject Leader, More House School

Ready to use resources

Access over 2,000 webpages of resources linked to curriculum and examination requirements.

Discounts

Receive discounts on our CPD courses, Philip's Atlases and Geographical magazine.

Supporting geography

Your membership supports the Society and our advocacy for the discipline.

Enjoy the benefits

Whether you are teaching about Russia or the carbon cycle, changing places or glaciation, the Society has a wealth of online resources, case studies and subject expert podcasts to help you. These are complemented by our extensive CPD programme, School Member lectures (also available online) and activities to help promote geography in the classroom and illustrate its relevance to further study and careers.

Online resources

Linked to the new GCSE and A Levels, our improved online resources provide access to over 350 ready to use case studies. These explore key issues and are an ideal way for your pupils to ‘read around’ their subject. The resources are arranged by topic and phase and include case studies, research articles, infographics and online animations.

School Member lecture series

Attend our termly School Member lectures, featuring leading geographers from across the discipline.

School Member Area

To use our School Member Area go to W www.rgs.org/SchMemArea

Online lectures and podcasts

Access high-quality recordings of our Monday night and School Member lectures and subject update podcasts about contemporary geographical issues. Ideal for exploring key topics, homework and independent research, and to show to your school’s Geography Society.

Discounts

- Receive up to 40% discount on our popular CPD programme.
- Discounts for Philip's Atlases and Geographical magazine.
- Save £30 on becoming a Fellow of the Society and £50 on your Chartered Geographer (Teacher) application.
