

Stars in your lives

Follow-up resource

Well done for successfully completing the fieldwork. You have planned a really good day for your chosen star. It's only a short time before they'll be here and they've contacted you to say how much they're looking forward to it.

They have also asked you for some more information about what you're planning. They've asked you to send them a map / model to show the route you will be taking with them and what you'll see along the way.

They enjoyed geography at school (who doesn't?! ) and were pretty good at it, so they'd like your map / model to be "geographical", e.g...

- It should show the route be drawn / made to scale
- If you are making a model, it could be 3-D, and show the relief
- It should show the physical and human features along the way
- These main features should be labelled or annotated (you could also include their grid references)
- It should have a north arrow to show direction
- It could also contain any other useful or interesting information
